Foreword

As another page of our physical, spiritual, and mental development comes to an end, we look back and take pride in our accomplishments. Maturity with the completion of studies which were chosen to prepare us for our future success, and confidence that Princeton has molded us into responsible citizens has made this year a distinct one. From devotion, activity, study, and guidance our characters have developed; and during our stay here, we have grown to love and respect Princeton High School.

Social science helps us understand the world in which we live.

The mind begins to create at an early age.

The beginning of a long road to success.

Allan and Jimmy find that mischief has its drawbacks.

The guidance of teachers is an important factor in the development of our minds.

Physics teaches us to apply math and science in our everyday lives.

Dedication

We, the Senior Class of 1966, wish to show our love and appreciation to Mr. Dillon Holt for his sincere interest and inspiring guidance shown to each of us. We have come to admire the leadership and untiring devotion which he has displayed in the task of developing our minds and spirits. For all the hours as our counselor, our teacher, and greatest of all, as our friend, we affectionately dedicate this 1966 Challenger to him.

This is evidence of Mr. Holt's leadership and friendliness.

Mr. Holt displays his talent as a guidance counselor.

Faculty '66

There are many phases of education. Each person has numerous jobs for the betterment of our school. Large or small, each person does his job willingly.

Our School Days Contain Variety

The end of another day at school which will become the basis of many cherished memories.

Teachers relax during recess.

Ag. helps students obtain a broader knowledge of the use of power tools.

School Days 1966

The one o'clock dash has now become the mid-day stroll.

Boy Scouts give the school good examples of citizenship and good sportsmanship.

The prospective Senior Class of 1978.

Sarah seems to be looking into the mirror of life and its wonders.

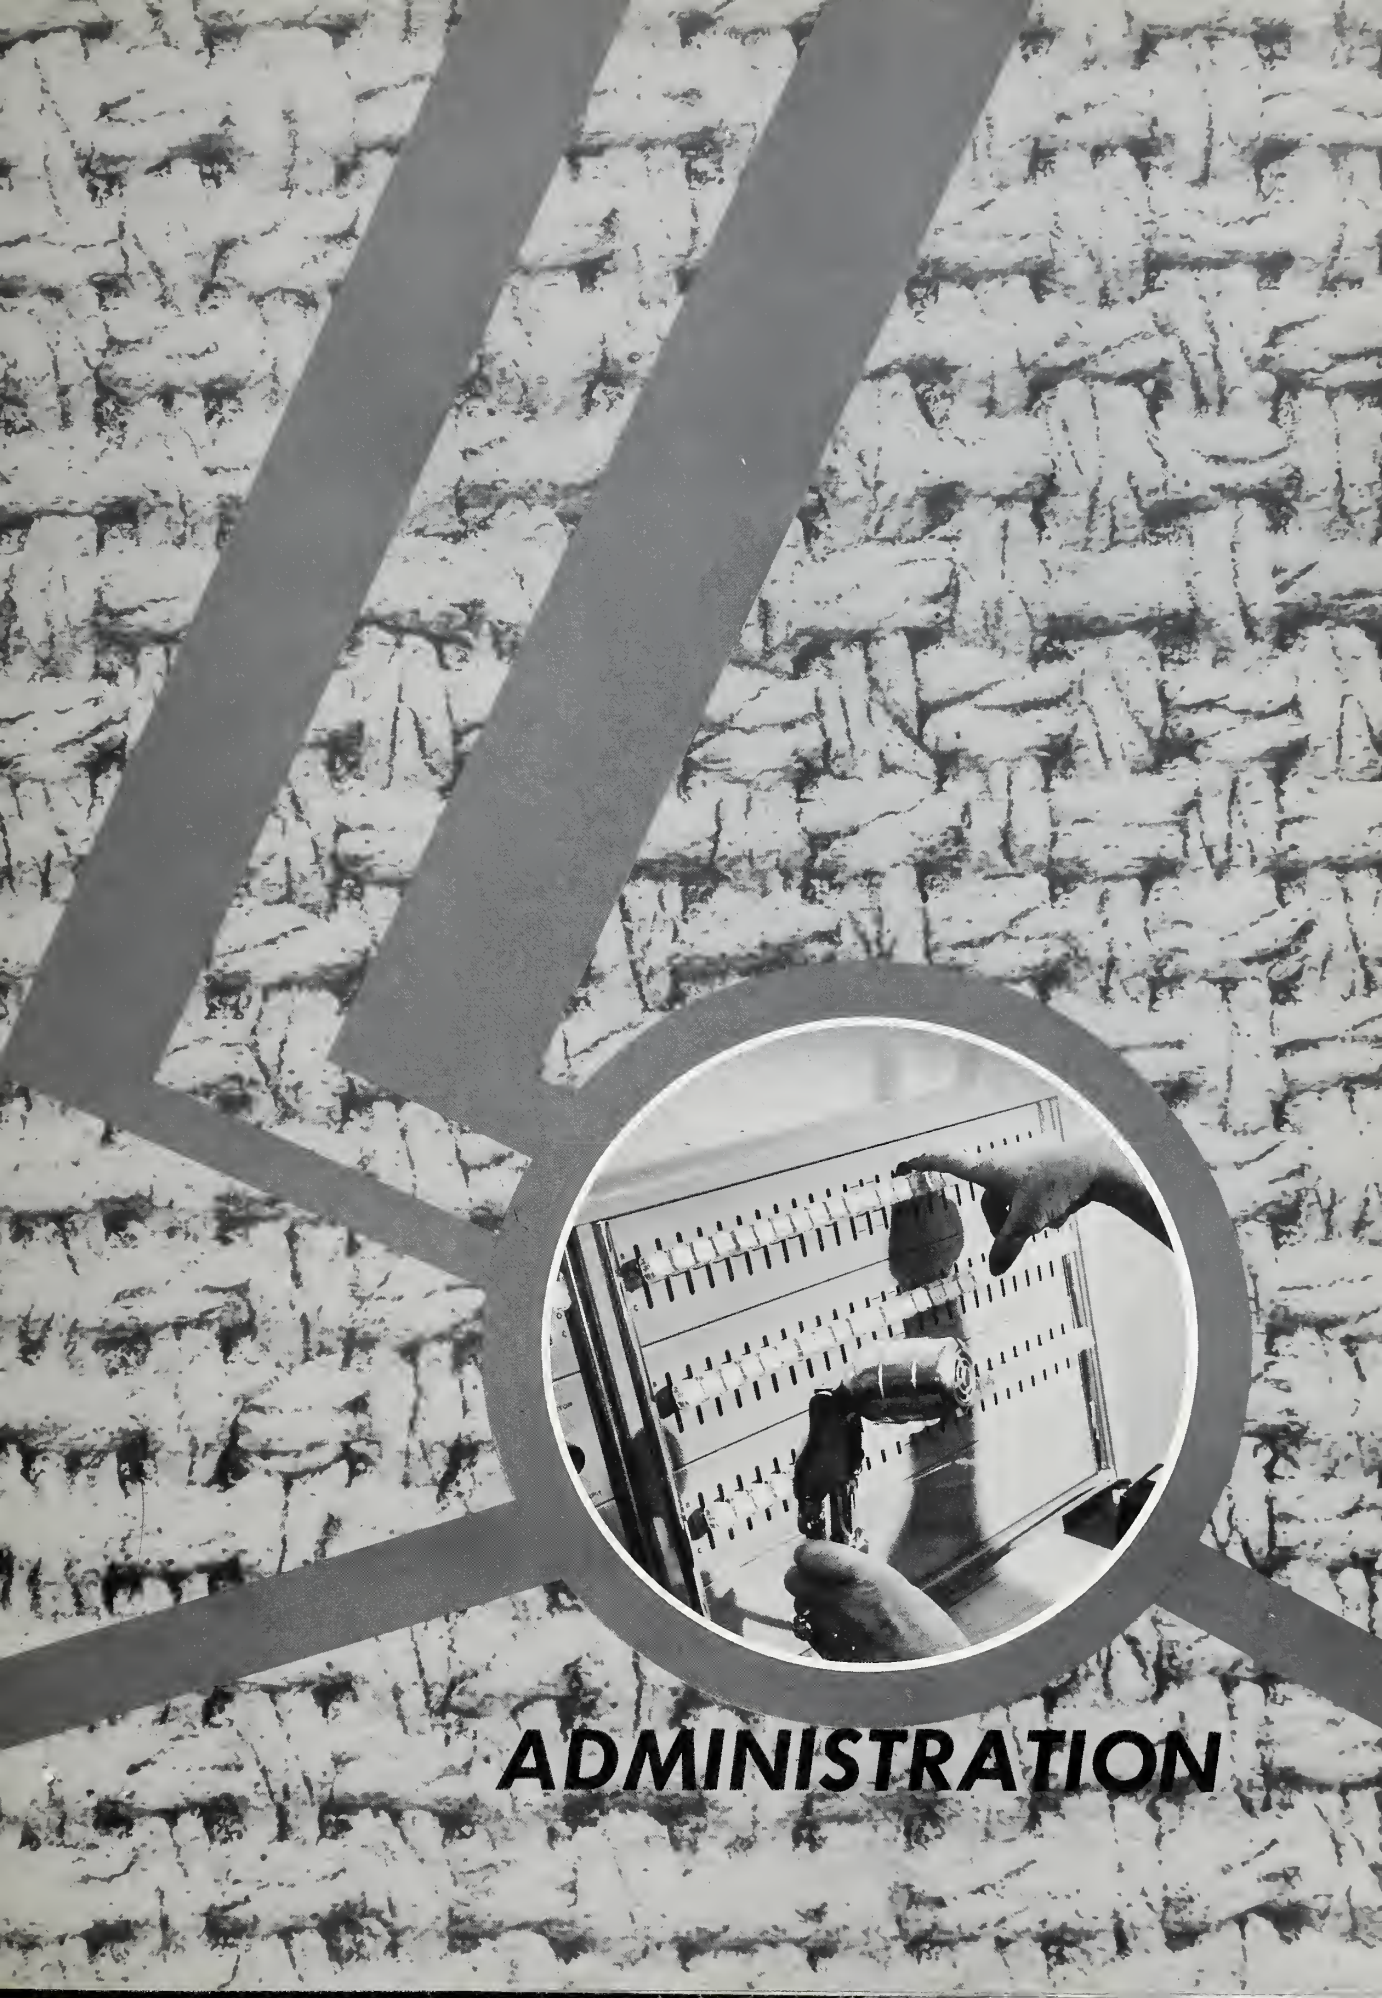
. . . but still find time for TESTS!

Information is presented in class. . .

. . . but it still narrows down to good, hard STUDY!



ADMINISTRATION

E. S. Simpson
Superintendent of Johnston County Schools

The members of the Board of Education and the Staff members provide the best educational opportunities for the young people of our school district. During recent years they have made available career days, vocational guidance, and the necessary equipment and opportunity to develop all sides of our personalities--mental, moral, emotional, physical, and social.

Dear Seniors:

I want to join your parents, teachers, and friends in extending congratulations to you upon graduation from high school. I am proud of your achievements thus far and wish for you continued success.

In the future, please let your mistakes in life be a stepping-stone to greater achievements. Remember, Babe Ruth never quit playing baseball because he struck out 1330 times. His name is in the Hall of Fame because of the 714 home runs he made.

We remember one's achievements more so than one's failures.

This is wishing you continued success and happiness in life.

Sincerely,
L. J. Worthington
Principal

Over the years, Mr. Worthington has watched us develop physically, mentally, and spiritually. The learning and growth of each individual has been important to him. Many times our traveled road has been made easier through his effort. We, the Seniors of 1966, extend our appreciation.

The Office Staff is composed of students who give their study hall to work in the office each day. They act as general assistants to the principal and teachers. Their work is deeply appreciated by the whole school body.

Delivering bulletins is one of the many office jobs that these girls perform.

Mrs. Gaye Vann, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Jean Langley, secretary, are invaluable to our school. They see that all school supplies are bought and paid for.

Malan, our mailman, keeps busy delivering the morning mail.

Mr. Dillion Holt is helpful to all students who have problems concerning their school and family life. He aids those seeking a higher education or vocational plans.

"Give me a quarter's worth", Danny said.

Mrs. Parrish collects lunch money, plans meals, and buys the supplies. Her greatest satisfaction comes from the students' smiles and thank you's, and "we enjoy our lunches."

"What are you staring at? Haven't you ever seen anyone eating?"

Is there really something there that you are going to hit, or is making bread enjoyable?

Flag Boy

Edward Wells,
Donnie Murphy

Mr. Worthington trusts our bus drivers' judgement and always reminds them of their responsibilities.

Patrol Boy

Safety is the main concern of these boys. They aid the principal, bus drivers, and parents in helping students across the streets.

Fire Squad

Fortunately, we have never had to use these boys except in practice fire drills, but knowing that we could depend on them in case of the real thing gives us a satisfying feeling of security. The fire squad is composed of Senior boys and Mr. Nethercutt, their advisor.

Custodians

Each individual shares in the responsibility of making our school safe, clean, and well-organized. Amanda Watson, Caleb Joyner, and Thomas Joyner play an important role in keeping our school organized.

Teachers' Aids

The Teachers' Aids pictured on this page have rendered a number of invaluable services to the teachers of Princeton High School. Their efforts enable the teachers to devote themselves to their students' needs instead of typing tests, grading papers, making bulletin boards, averaging grades, and keeping records. They are as follows: Linda Porter, Annette Bizzell, Libby Sutton, Ann Radford, Claudia Braswell, Ruby Evans, Betty Sykes, Jody Williams, and Dorothy Wellons.

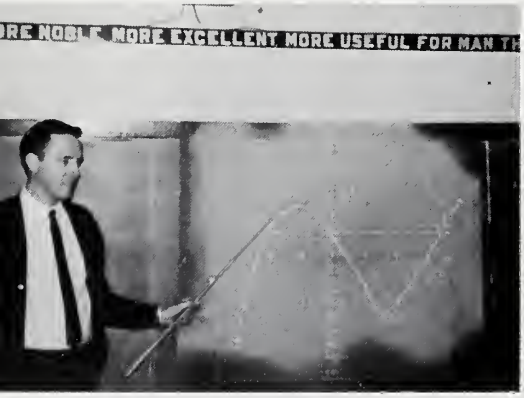
It seems Mr. Woodard likes to assign the odd problems for homework.

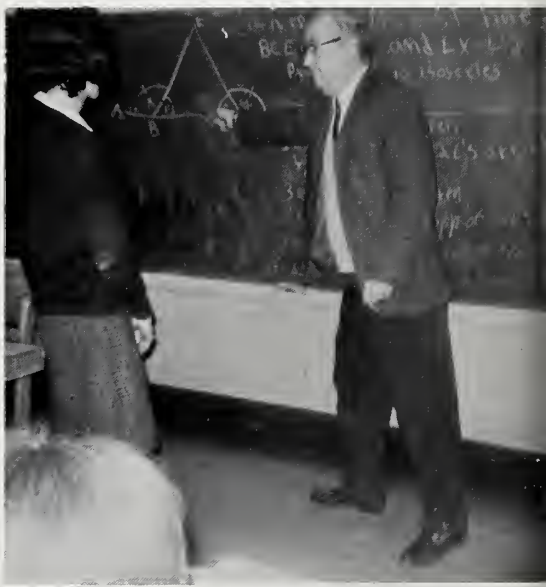
Mr. Holt shows his students everything about math, except his grade book.

Mr. Holt and Mr. Woodard agree that mathematics is needed in every day life.

Mr. Woodard understands the different needs of his students. Here, he is observing Sarah's work.



Math IV students learn how to solve higher degree equations similar to this one.



"To prove BCE is isosceles, you must prove the exterior angles, x and y, are equal," Mr. Holt explains to Delores.

Science teaches you new things every day.

"'Know what you're doing before you do it.' Is that why Beth, Darlene, and Johnnie are watching Mr. Nethercutt?"

ATHLETICS

It's Not All in the Game

Basketball proved again to be the leading sport around Princeton this year. The activities pertaining to basketball were varied. The pep rallies, the Homecoming Bonfire, and Homecoming Dance.

The scenes of fun were scattered... varsity basketball players, cheerleaders, and juniors and seniors enjoying the bonfire...Durwood Strickland going the "wrong way" after a pep rally...Libby and Alan trying th help each other with sprained ankles...Larry Howell receiving "birthday wishes" at the bonfire... Lynda keeping score for her third straight year...and the pep band playing on, and on, and on...Yes, all this added up to a wonderful sports' season.

FAVORITES

Miss Princeton High

The Senior Class annually chooses a boy and girl as representatives of their conception of ideal citizens and all-around students. These students are selected for their dependability and consistency in the work they have displayed during their years at Princeton High School.

Mr. Princeton High

Friendship, courtesy, sincerity, and integrity distinguish these students, and their presence at Princeton has set a standard for which all students strive. For all their services, we are proud to name Linda Worley and Ray Rhiner as Mr. and Miss Princeton of 1965-1966.

Superlatives

Best-All-Around

Linda Worley
Robert Worley

Through active participation in all school functions, Linda and Robert have proven themselves worthy for this position.

Jean Davis
David Lee

Jean and David have shown that whenever there is a job to be done they can be counted on to accomplish it.

Most Dependable

Most Likely to Succeed

Vickie Wilson
Ray Parker

By successfully completing their senior year, Vickie and Ray have shown that they will succeed in their future ambitions.

Joyce Wilkins
Robert Worley

Through hard work and a constant regard for their studies, Joyce and Robert have acquired their high scholastic averages.

Most Intellectual

Most Athletic

Wittiest

Janel Rains
Gary Rhodes

Because of their cheerful personalities and their intelligent remarks in class, Janel and Gary are indeed the wittiest.

Homecoming Queen Barbara Moore

Homecoming '66

Homecoming was the biggest and best ever. The cheerleaders, who sponsored the event, did a magnificent job working with the theme of "White Christmas." It all began with the election of the high school homeroom representatives. The crowning of the queen and the winning of our homecoming game were highlights that led to a wonderful weekend, which was climaxed by our first homecoming dance. Everyone had a great time dancing to the music of "The Deminsions."

Senior Play

Preparation for the big event.

Mr. Woodard, director and coach, works almost twice as hard backstage as the cast does on stage

SENIOR PLAY CAST!!

"Why I was just telling Frank last night. . ."

"Are you concentrating, Herc?" asks Robert of Gary

"Have a cigar, John," says David to Lynn

In the Misty Moonlight

Preparation is half the fun.

This is work?

What do you mean "Take it down"?

Who said, "Two heads are better than one"?

What's this, a punch well?

Success at last!

The biggest event of the high school year, the Junior-Senior Prom, was held April 1, 1966, in the high school gym. The decorations were beautiful enough to transform the ordinary basketball court into an eloquent dance floor. The resulting prom was a magnificent representation of the planning and work that the Junior Class had so diligently put forth.

Go, Larry, go!

Everyone

Seems to Be

"Got'em Waitin' in Line" What's up?

Enjoying Themselves

Look at all these Goodies!
